

VOLUNTEERING AT INLAND :

In many cases a small scale non-profit organization that offers different goods and activities at no cost relies on volunteer work.

We are aligned with the volunteering system WWOOF set up. WorldWide Opportunities on Organic Farms (WWOOF) is part of a worldwide movement linking visitors with organic farmers and growers to promote cultural and educational experiences based on trust and non-monetary exchange thereby helping to build a sustainable global community. <https://wwof.net/#faq>

Volunteers are welcome to apply for a certain period of time with a specific proposal of activities to be agreed with INLAND team or to join the actions and tasks that the project requires in that moment.

INLAND provides accommodation and food for the volunteer and an insurance covering accidental damages. Transport costs related to the defined tasks is also covered.

Internet is available in our urban spaces, not in the rural ones.

Although food and accommodation is provided, the volunteer might help with tasks regarding the arrangement and maintenance of his or her room, other spaces in the house or cooking, usually on a rotation basis.

The dedication of the volunteer to the project is expected to be from Monday to Friday from 9.30 to 14 h, breakfast and lunch time not included in this period .

If necessary, this time could be rearranged, depending on what the tasks themselves and the other people involved on them require. In some cases some time could be added and recovered later , for example, when hosting a celebration, dedication might involve more hours, to be recovered with free time after.

The volunteer can refuse certain tasks based on ethical concern, like regarding the work we do with animals etc, and will look for the good maintenance of the equipment and infrastructure of the organization.
